

Manipur: Journalist arrested under NSA moves High Court

ABHISHEK SAHA
GUWAHATI, DECEMBER 19

MANIPUR JOURNALIST Kishorechandra Wangkhem, who was arrested last month for making derogatory comments against the chief minister of Manipur and the BJP-led Manipur government under the National Security Act (NSA), moved the High Court on Wednesday against his arrest.

In an order dated December 14, the Governor of Manipur said that Wangkhem should be detained for 12 months - the maximum period allowed by Section 13 of the NSA.

Wangkhem's lawyer Chongtham Victor told The Indian Express. "We have filed a Habeas Corpus petition today. The petition basically pleads that all allegations levelled by the state government are unreasonable and unbecoming of the state. Criticism and expressing opinion is not a crime unless it incites violence between communities. Has any crime been committed as a result of his comments? Has there been any violence between communities?"

Imphal-based Wangkhem was arrested under the NSA after he uploaded controversial videos criticising the BJP-led Manipur government for ob-serving Ranjiv Hansi's birth anniversary and allegedly used derogatory words against CM Biren Singh. The petition filed on Wednesday states, "Detention of a bonafide citizen under NSA for merely criticising the government is bad in law. Such act on the part of the detaining authority defeats the very object of democratic principles."
